

As part of Black History Month, we learned about the former American President, Barack Obama. How many of these facts did you know?

Barack Obama

For Black History Month we learned about the United States of America's first African-American President, Barack Obama. We read about him, discussed our thoughts about what we'd read and then chose facts we thought were important, interesting and inspiring for everyone. We hope you agree.

The bulletin board is decorated with a red scalloped border and contains approximately 35 handwritten fact cards, each featuring a small portrait of Barack Obama and a list of facts. The central text box is white with black text and is surrounded by a blue background.
