

Our Sculptures

Inspired by the work of Eva Rothschild, we created our own sculptures using marshmallows, play dough and cocktail sticks. We thought carefully about the shapes we wanted to include in our art work. We thought about how tall or wide we wanted our sculptures to be. We knew our biggest challenge would be getting them to stand up on their own!

Rothschild made this arch from aluminium and painted the bright coloured stripes with enamel paint.

Rothschild made this huge sculpture to go inside the Tate Britain. It stretches for more than 70 metres!

The sculpture is minimalist. It is simple and does not have much detail. It contrasts with the grand design of the building.
