

8.10.26

Science - Investigating Magnets

This afternoon we took part in a Science experiment, testing the strength of different types of magnets. First, we made a prediction about which magnet would be the strongest, then we tested each magnet. We used a paper clip and tested how close the magnet needed to be before it attracted the magnetic paper clip towards it. Afterwards, we summarised our results and thought about whether our predictions were correct or not.

