

Woodstone Green News

We love Alice's hosepipe hanging basket - a great way of using up old garden hosepipe.

Although not found in the garden this upcycled video machine has had a new lease of life thanks to Sienna and Emily.

The Big Battery Hunt

The Challenge

Under the supervision of an adult, children are challenged to collect as many used batteries as possible during the Easter holidays and put them in their recycling box.

The box has a handy checklist to help them along their Big Battery Hunt journey whilst their homework sheets will ensure they are learning as they go!

Children should ask parents to return batteries to the battery recycling tube in their local supermarket.

Competition slips should be returned to school. Returned slips will be put into a hat, the winning participant to be rewarded with a Duracell Bunny.

A huge thank you to everyone who helped on the Grandparent Gardening afternoons. A special vote of thanks to Ian Shaw who attended both afternoons and worked so very hard. We would like to thank Fran Marshall, Elaine Smith, Nicola Harmer and John Newton. Their hard work has helped tidy and get the school garden ready for the growing season - fantastic!

A group of children visited Fruit Routes at the Loughborough University. This project is open to all and you can visit the site at any time. We have included a map on the back of this newsletter and recommend a visit.
