

Science- making simple circuits

Today in science we explored different electrical components to make simple circuits. It was fun getting to use them for the first time and we learnt a lot about what is needed to make a simple circuit work!

