Make a start on your biography. Don't worry about finishing it today! The purpose of a biography is to give an account of a person's life and important things that have happened to them.

Your biography should include:

- An introduction to get the reader's attention- you need to make me want to read on!
- Key events that have happened to them in CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER (the order that they happened).
- Information about early life, their family, their home etc. so the reader can feel like they know them.
- Some pictures with captions.
- A conclusion with what they are doing now, or how they are remembered today.

I have included an example biography about the Olympic swimmer Tom Daley. There are 3 versions of this: a normal one, one where the features have been identified and one where the grammar has been identified. Use this to help you structure your own! There is also a checklist and features sheet to help you. Present your work however you want!

Try to keep up with a diary, even if you only write in it once a week. Include new things you have learnt or heard about on the news, how they made you feel, and the things you have done whilst at home with your family. 😊

History

We are going to have another look at the 'Shang Dynasty' today. I have attached a presentation about the different people who lived under the Shang rule- as you will see there were a lot of different people! Your task today is to use this information in the presentation, as well as any of your own research, to tell me about the different types of people. There is a sheet attached which you can do your work on, or you can choose to present your work however you like. You might prefer to do a poster with pictures, write the information in your book or a PowerPoint presentation- I don't mind!
