

Trip- Shree Temple and Jewry Wall

Today, we went on an exciting trip to Leicester. First, we went to the Hindu Shree Temple. This was really interesting as we were able to see the Hindu people praying and worshipping their gods. A kind man showed us around the temple and gave us lots of information about the religion, the gods and the practises of the Hindu people.

We then went to Jewry Wall, a Roman museum which has one of the tallest surviving sections of Roman wall in Britain. We explored a range of artifacts in the museum, while also answering some questions our teacher had set us! There was lots of interactive activities to do including building a Roman bath house, dressing up, taking quizzes and lots more. We then got to go outside and explore the ruins of the bath house. We could see exactly where the baths used to be and carried out some sketches of the ruins!
