

Water Resistance

In science, we investigated dropping different shapes of playdough into a measuring cylinder. We observed which hit the bottom first.

We found out that streamlined shapes were faster and shapes with a large surface area were slower.

