

Ice Experiment (UtW)

Acorn Class took part in an Ice Experiment. The children were given four equal-sized pieces of ice and asked to predict what would make the ice melt the fastest. They tested salt, sugar, cold water and heat.

Acorn Class made a prediction first. They then timed two minutes and carefully observed what happened to the ice. The children found that heat melted the ice the quickest followed by salt.

