

K2

Range	Karakoram Range
Height	8611 m
Continent	Asia
Country	China-Pakistan border
Hemisphere	Northern
Type	Fold

Did you know? Its real name is Mount Godwin Austen, after the man who first surveyed it, but the more familiar name of K2 comes from the fact it was the second peak measured in the Karakoram Range.

Ben Nevis

Range Grampian Mountains

Height 1345 m

Continent Europe

Country Scotland

Hemisphere Northern

Type Erosional

Did you know? Ben Nevis is the highest mountain in Britain.
150,000 people visit the mountain each year.

Mount Ararat

Range Armenian Highlands

Height 5137 m

Continent Europe

Country Turkey

Hemisphere Northern

Type Volcanic

Did you know? Ararat has two peaks – Great Ararat and Little Ararat. Their summits are about seven miles apart.

Mount Everest

Range Himalayas

Height 8848 m

Continent Asia

Country China-Nepal border

Hemisphere Northern

Type Fold

Did you know? Everest wasn't known to be the world's highest peak until it was surveyed in 1852.

Mount Kilimanjaro

Range East African Rift

Height 5895 m

Continent Africa

Country Tanzania

Hemisphere Southern

Type Volcanic

Did you know? Kibo is the highest of the three volcanic cones at the summit of Mount Kilimanjaro.

Mount Kenya

Range East African Rift

Height 5199 m

Continent Africa

Country Kenya

Hemisphere Southern

Type Volcanic

Did you know? This mountain is the second highest in Africa and stands just south of the Equator.

Mount Kosciuszko

Range Snowy Mountains

Height 2228 m

Continent Australia

Country Australia

Hemisphere Southern

Type Fault-block

Did you know? The mountain was named after an army general called Tadeusz Kosciuszko.

Aconcagua

Range	Andes
Height	6962 m
Continent	South America
Country	Argentina
Hemisphere	Southern
Type	Volcanic

Did you know? Aconcagua is one of the highest mountains you can climb without the use of climbing ropes, axes and pins.

Snowdon

Range Snowdonia

Height 1085 m

Continent Europe

Country Wales

Hemisphere Northern

Type Erosional

Did you know? The Snowdon Mountain Railway opened in 1896 and allows visitors to ride all the way to the summit of Snowdon.

Mount Olympus

Range Olympus Range

Height 2917 m

Continent Europe

Country Greece

Hemisphere Northern

Type Fold

Did you know? Mount Olympus was regarded as the home of the Greek gods.

Denali

Range Alaska Range

Height 6190 m

Continent North America

Country USA

Hemisphere Northern

Type Dome

Did you know? Denali is growing at a rate of one millimetre per year.