

Transition Day - Thursday

Today, the children designed and made a soft toy monster from felt. They used a running stitch to sew the two pieces together. I was so impressed by their effort today. Superb outcomes for only having a day to do it. Well done everyone!

