

Heart Dissection

We had a very special lesson today! As part of our Animals including Humans topic, we've been learning about the circulatory system, the heart and how it works. Today, we were lucky enough to open up a real ox heart!

We've learned about the four chambers of the heart, the atriums and ventricles, and how they're responsible for pumping blood to out lungs and organs. Today, we were able to take a close look at each individual section; up close and personal!
