

Science- exploring forces

Today in science the children have explored how we can make different objects move. We discussed what a force is and when and where they are used. We learned that simple forces are pushes and pulls, but there are many other forces acting in the world all the time, such as gravity!

