

Ravenstone!

Pine class have been busy researching how Ravenstone has changed over the last 10, 20 to 100 years. Ravenstone has grown over the years, more houses, more cars and busier roads. The children found out that our local reservoir at Staunton Harold was built in 1964 to store water for the East Midlands and covers over 200 acres of land. They know that people used to dig for coal near Ravenstone and when the mines closed some of the land was used to become Snibston Discovery Park and Sense Valley Forest Park. The class produced excellent posters, using facts, photographs, maps and diagrams. Well done Pine Class!
