

Science – Ourselves

In Science the children have been looking at body parts. Today the children worked in small groups to create a labelled diagram. They drew around one child from their work and then worked together to add the labels to their diagram.

